Paris, May 22.—German aviators made an ineffectual attempt last night to raid Paris. Three persons were killed and several injured in the outskirts of the city, but none of the raiders succeeded in reaching Paris itself. A German airplane was hit by an anti-aircraft gun and fell in flames north of the city.

MARTIAL LAW PROCLAIMED IN BOHEMIA

London, May 22.—Martial law has been proclaimed in Bohemia and in consequence of "popular excesses" many persons have been imprisoned. Says a dispatch to the Daily Mail from Berne, quoting a Bohemian newspaper.

Outbreaks have occurred in several towns. The vast estates of Prince Furstenburg, a close friend of the German emperor, have been plundered and the buildings on them burned.

LIBERTY BONDS

We will buy $50 or $100 Liberty Bonds from persons needing the cash. H. F. Mugridge, Market street.

(By Associated Press)
With the American Army in France, Tuesday.—The American artillery northwest of Toul launched a sudden and terrific local gas attack upon the German position and cantonment within the Gerechamp wood early today.

Severe punishment was inflicted upon the enemy, how great is not yet known. In lively patrol actions Monday night and, this morning east of Luneyville, German parties were twice defeated by the Americans, who captured two prisoners. There were no American casualties.

A corporal named Kleik from a New England state, carried out a "personal patrol" late yesterday afternoon. He crawled to the enemy wire to investigate what he thought was a periscope and saw a German step up to the firing trench. Bullets were exchanged. The American returned safely across No Man's Land.

SUBSTITUTE FOR CHAMBERLAIN RESOLUTION

(By Associated Press)
Washington, May 22.—With less than two minutes debate, the threatened breach between President Wilson and the Senate disappeared today when by a viva vote an acceptable substitute was adopted in place of the Chamberlain resolution which the President contended was nothing less than a proposal to constitute the military affairs committee a committee on the conduct of the war.

NOTES FROM THE NEWINGTON SHIP PLANT

Government Inspector Fred A. Jones appeared yesterday with a three-pound salmon trout. He went out to lunch and had been absent only an hour when he returned with this handsome specimen. He refused to tell just where he "hooked it." It is some trout and some catch.

Watch out for record-breaking storms. The men of this ship yard are determined that New England shall prove to all the country that it cannot be outdone in the ship-building game. The men at the plant are hustlers and boosters.

The white post slogs by the street railway, have been done away with at Jones and Otis avenues, and in their place one has been established in front of Boulter's coal office. It would be well if the road did away with some of the other unnecessary stops to conserve power as they claim. Also the electric lights inside the cars should be turned off during the day, saving much electricity now going to waste.

You are invited to put sentiment aside entirely and view a contribution to the Red Cross as a business matter, as you would a purchase of groceries or clothing. The question is: what are you getting for your money? You are buying safety for yourselves, your homes, your business and your children. We must win the war and the war cannot be won without an efficient and unfettered Red Cross. You are increasing the man-power of the armies by giving them healing and care. You are upholding the morale of the men and their families. You are making a hard-headed choice between victory and defeat. What if Germany wins?

The right hand of fellowship was extended by Rev. Edward H. Stearns, Concord. Greatings from the ministers and churches of Dover were brought by Rev. John A. Chapin, pastor of St. Thomas Episcopal church, The charge to the people was made by Dr. John A. Quint of Chelsea, Mass. Music was furnished by the quartet of the church.

A letter has been received by Frank P. Waldron of this city, from Daniel J. Scanlon of the 101st Infantry, France. The letter was dated April 27, which is two days after Scanlon was reported to have been killed by accident. This is the first letter which has reached Dover since the name of Daniel J. Mr. McManus of Dover, appeared for a hearing before the Food Administrator at Concord Tuesday and was given the alternative of paying $250 to the Dover Red Cross or of having the New Hampshire Food Administration recommend to Washington that his baking license be revoked for the period of the war. McManus elected to pay the $250 to the Red Cross and signed an agreement to do so.

About two weeks ago Mr. McManus raised the wholesale price of bread in his bakeries to nine cents for a pound loaf without conferring with the Food Administration. He was asked to come to the administration office here and show his costs and explain this increase in price. As a result Mr. McManus agreed to make the wholesale price for a pound loaf 8 1/2 cents which would result in a retail price of 10 cents. He carried out this agreement so far as making the wholesale price 8 1/2 cents, but sold at retail at 11 cents.

It was felt that the fixing of this retail price was a definite indication on the part of Mr. McManus of unwillingness to cooperate with the Food Administration. It was further felt that this retail price of 11 cents was too high for the consumer, and the food administration estimated that the community served through Mr. McManus' bakeries had suffered since this 41 cent rate went into effect, an overcharge of about $400.

The Food Administration realizes that, though but a part of this profit was made by Mr. McManus himself, he was indirectly responsible for all of it and consequently it set the sum of $250 as that which should be paid by way of restitution to the Dover Red Cross.

Mr. McManus has also agreed, in addition to sell his bread at retail at 10 cents. He has also been ordered not to sell any bread in any retailer who does not agree to sell it at 10 cents.

The food administration will notify all retailers that it considers a price of more than 10 cents for a pound loaf unreasonably high at the present time.

AVENGE DEATH OF LUFBERY

With the American Army in France, May 20.—At the funeral this afternoon of Maj. Lufbery it was announced by the American general that the boche battle plane which brought down the American "ace" yesterday had been downed by the French.

This avenging of Lufbery's death by a Frenchman was a fitting climax to the life story of the American whose career epitomized the sisterhood of the two great republics. Lufbery's father was an American; his mother, French. He fought in the French army until his own nation entered the war and then was our foremost "ace."

The boche battle plane that brought down Lufbery was got by the French a few miles away. After one French pilot had been lost, another succeeded in getting a lucky shot home through the steel armor to the pilot. The German in the plane were dead when found.

Starting out this morning to avenge the death of his friend Lufbery, Capt. D. M. K. Peterson ran into two boch machines and forced one down. Peterson is the first American to become an "ace" in working with the American air service back of the American lines.

It was learned today that Capt. Norbert Hall, who was brought down recently behind the German lines and was believed to have been killed, is in a German hospital with broken arms and an injured foot, but is otherwise well.

Memorial Day.

Memorial Day is rapidly approaching and this year it will in a certain sense have a significance that it never had before. It is a day set apart for honoring the memory of those who fell in the Civil war and those who have answered the final roll call since the close of that great conflict. Now that the country is again in the throes of war, the people realize more keenly the propriety of the observances of this day, and also that there are others to be honored besides the brave men who fought the battle of human freedom in the dark days of the sixties.

The country now has an army in France fighting the battle of human freedom as truly as did the boys in blue on southern soil more than half a century ago, and some of its members have already given up their lives. And when Memorial Day comes and the people of this country are decorating the graves of their heroes at home, the women of the Salvation Army, an organization that is doing what it can to aid and comfort the armies in France, will place flowers on the graves of all Americans who have fallen there. This is a most thoughtful, considerate and appropriate act, one that will reflect credit upon the Salvation Army, and bring comforting thoughts to many a mourning American home.

In New Hampshire the department commander of the Grand Army of the Republic recommends that the Posts of the state, observing the day in cemeteries in which confederates are buried, place flowers on their graves as well as on those of the men who fell in the Union cause. The half century that has elapsed since the close of the struggle in which these men took part has brought about a closer union between the sections than existed in slavery days. As Department Commander Watson says, "The sons and grandsons of the confederates are today fighting shoulder to shoulder with our own brave boys that this country may remain the home of the free." This is true. The bonds of union in this country are stronger than ever before in its history, and no stronger testimony to this fact can be given than the placing of flowers over the remains of confederates that rest in northern soil.

This and the decoration of soldiers' graves in France will add to the interest of the day, and a further feature will be the response to President Wilson's call for national prayer for an early and honorable peace. That this call will be generally heeded throughout the country there is no reason to doubt, and with these various new features Memorial Day this year should be one of the most impressive in the history of the country.

Is there anything in the world that will not serve as the basis for a prediction? A brilliant display of aurora borealis, or northern lights, a few evenings ago brought a lot of pessimists to their feet with the prediction that there will be poor crops this year. What a comforting thought, and how sensible!

Members of the Massachusetts Legislature take kindly to the idea of omitting elections this year, on the ground that it is risky to "swap horses in the middle of a stream." But there will be elections, and also some changes in the Massachusetts Legislature.

In a Massachusetts court the other day a man was convicted of a crime which the judge pronounced "next to murder," and the sentence was imprisonment for from "ten to twelve years!" And, after all, that is more than many murderers receive.

The cost of conservation, like everything else, is going up. The expenses of the Food Administration have already risen from $2,500,000 a year to $12,000,000. Has there been all the Hooverizing there might have been in Hooverdom?

Japan and China are getting together to "act in common in case the German menace should extend too far in their direction." Sensible move. The only limit to "German influence" is the ability of the Kaiser.

A contemporary says: "The food situation is so critical that the people of the nation face actual starvation next winter if large crops are not raised this summer." Was there ever a year when the same was not true?

Another Red Cross drive is at hand. The calls for money are coming thick and fast, but there is nothing for the folks at home to do but "stand to the rack," as the boys are doing at the front.

The Germans have now resorted to the use of infernal machines in No Man's Land. But that's nothing. Their whole program is infernal.

To the ladies and gentlemen and those others traveling incognito—we of the World's Greatest Publicity Bureau have something which we not only wish to shove across to you but insist on your taking a personal interest in.

One of the greatest little things about the whole affair is that no money transactions are involved, in fact we beseech of you to leave your change at home.

And again there is no age limit. The babies are welcome—indeed we love the blubs. So, too, are the halt and the blind, for it is assured that you will not need the sense of sight to enjoy what is coming off at the play ground ball park Thursday afternoon at 6 o'clock.

The Officers' Nine of the Portsmouth navy yard are invading the shores of our grand and glorious city to play a team we are proud to say represents our first and last families.

So come and enjoy a game such as you have never had the opportunity of enjoying before for you will see in action: Fogg, University of Michigan, who knocked four dead at second with his hand grenades hurled from behind the plate; Thompson, who has a bottle of smoke just received from the Pacific coast; you'll just naturally become dizzy trying to follow his shots.

Head will cover the land, sky, and sea around first.

As for Wool—one look from him while approaching second and you'll wish "Ho!" were nearer.

In professional circles it is generally known that old Muggsy Magraw had nothing on Kik, that's why shortstop affords no openings for an early or late drive.

MacCormick wears "specks" around third base to foil any attempt to poke dust in his eyes, and you'll find none on his shoes either. You will find a streak behind him often, however.

Green sounds harmless, but your eyes will turn that shade with envy when you see what he pulls off in the field should the chance for show arise.

Barker used to catch deer in the Maine forests by his ability to run them to death. Being your stop watch to time him around the bases.

Grant looks bully, but oh boy! he will be a crime to let him play for he not only pitches but accommodates any other person on the field who needs a rest. He's a find—don't know for sure where he will play.

Really, can you miss this chance to see nine stars perform? Come early to get good seats free and to have a regular line.

ANOTHER PROTEST FROM HOLLAND

(By Associated Press)

Washington, May 22.—A supplementary note of protest against the British and American seizure of Dutch shipping has been handed to Secretary Lansing by the Dutch legation here. It contends that the United States in its explanation of seizure did not answer the original objection made by the Dutch government.

PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

Why the Sign in Street?

Editor—The absence of repairs or any kind of street work on Livermore street leads me to inquire through your paper the reason for the locating of the sign reading "No Passing in the Highway." I know of no such fight having been granted by the department of public works.

MISS O'LEARY THE GUEST OF HONOR

Popular Young Lady Entertained by Girl Friends.

Miss Katherine O'Leary was the guest of honor Monday evening at a gathering given at the home of Mrs. M. A. Barrett on Cabot street, those present being the A. A. Club, of which Miss O'Leary was formerly a member. The time was passed in sociability and music added to the interest of the occasion. A pleasing incident of the evening was the presentation to Miss O'Leary of a chest of silver from the club and a memento scarf from other friends. The generous gifts were received with much appreciation and the recipient expressed hearty thanks for the same. Refreshments were served by the hostess, who left nothing undone to have her guests enjoy the evening.

CHANGE ROUTE OF PARADE.

The plans for the annual Memorial Day procession to the South Cemetery are not running smoothly this year on account of the condition of Middle street, which is all torn up while the paving work is going on. It looks as if a decided change would have to be made in the route of the parade this year.

MAY TERM OF SUPERIOR COURT OPENS

Many Cases Marked for Trial by Jury Both at Exeter and in This City.

The May term of the Rockingham county superior court came in Tuesday morning at Exeter with Judge John E. Allen of Keene on the bench. The prayer was offered by Rev. James H. Buxier, pastor of the First Congregational church, and the grand jury retired under the direction of County Solicitor William H. Sleeper of Exeter. John W. Rabbit of Exeter was appointed foreman. The remainder of the morning session was devoted to the naturalization of aliens.

The petit jury reported at 2 o'clock and the first jury case was commenced, it being Charles M. Evans of Watertown, Mass., vs. Daniel J. Keilher of Plaistow. The plaintiff brings suit for an alleged warranty in a horse trade which it is alleged did not come true, it being broken.

Holington of Derry, John J. Tilton of Epping, Nelson E. Smith of Londonderry, LeRoy D. Morse of Chester, John T. Millmore of Derry, Horace A. Massey of Portsmouth, Harry D. Christman of Portsmouth and George Mathes of Newmarket. The counsel are Judge Chester T. Woodbury of Salem and Judge Ernest L. Gaffill of Portsmouth for the plaintiff, and John Scammon of Exeter for the defense.

Sheriff Ceylon Spencey of Portsmouth is in charge of the petit jurors, assisted by Deputy Thomas Dodge of Auburn.

There are many cases marked for trial by jury during the term, and also a long list for Portsmouth later in the term.

That if that is correct they are catching the pay operators get not so many years ago.

That a laundry will get out where the cat parlor goes in.

That rumors are plenty on the B. & M. today relative to some changes in the official family.

That four of Portsmouth's doctors may make up part of the state's quota needed in the service.

TIME TO PUSH DOVER POINT BRIDGE REPAIRS

Imagine an army of one or two hundred thousand men bound for Dover and someone wrecking the bridge at Dover Point. Do you suppose that it would take from one to three months to establish a means of getting that army across the river? There certainly is an opportunity for someone to step in and demonstrate the necessity of "early completion of this work." This is interfering with the war work on this river. Unless somebody steps in there is a small likelihood of this job being completed before the end of the summer. There should be some put into the undertaking. It is important to the country and it is important to Portsmouth.

Unless the present management of the Boston and Maine can complete this undertaking it is up to the authorities at Washington to inquire why.

ORDERED TO CALL EXTRA JURYMEN

Court Finds It Necessary to Excuse Several at Exeter.

Owing to several of the jury drawn for the May term of superior court at Exeter being excused on account of work that will help to win the war, Judge Allen today directed City Clerk Seale to order extra jurors drawn from wards 2 and 4 in this city today. The court calls for one man from each ward. Other extra drawings were also ordered in other places in the county.

RED CROSS POSTERS ARE ATTRACTIVE

The Red Cross posters in the vestibule of the local postoffice and other prominent places about town attract much attention and should certainly aid in the appeal to the public in the Red Cross drive. The public for this second drive is of colorful in the national colors, the Red Cross in the center, being on a white ground bordered with blue. It is lettered "Second War Fund," and where it puts on are the words "Save a Life."

ATTENTION COMRADES

Storer Post adjourned meeting will be held on Friday evening May 24, and a full attendance is requested. Final details of the Memorial day observances will be perfected. Comrades are reminded of the memorial service at St. John's Church Sunday morning, May 26, 11 o'clock. Adjutant, M. H. Bull, Adjutant, H. S. Paul, Commander, ch 21 m 22

PERSHING VETERAN TALKS ON WAR

Sergt Howat Tells Large Crowds Why They Should Support Red Cross-- Women Collect Over $3,000 in Two Days

The second day of the Red Cross Drive has been most encouraging and there is no doubt but what Portsmouth intends to do its share toward the great War Fund. The ladies committee who have been canvassing the city for the past two days and who have their work well in hand, reported on Tuesday evening that they had over $3,000 which is a most excellent showing. They still have some ground to cover and with their collection at the theatres and elsewhere will make a wonderful showing.

The men's teams did not begin work until Tuesday and no report was available last evening, but they were very optimistic about the results.

At the Navy Yard the drive has started in earnest and every workman will be given an opportunity to subscribe for this great work. On Tuesday noon Sergt. Howat delivered a telling talk to the men and told them a few dependent upon to do its full share.

At both the Shattuck and Atlantic ship yards the reports were not ready other than in a general way that the team captains were meeting with a great success and every man fighting to be high man in the final show down. The workmen are very enthusiastic in the matter and re anxious that their respective yards should make a good showing.

An incident of the day was related by a collector who was trying to make headway with a foreigner. The foreigner did not understand much English and the collector was strong on English but nothing else, but finally he produced Red Cross button. The effect was electric. The man dug down in his pocket and pulled up a bill and handed it over with a smile. He did not understand English but he did recognize the universal sign of charity the Red Cross.

The large audiences at both of the local theatres enjoyed an excellent talk by Sergeant K. W. Howat of the 165 Infantry a veteran of six months service in France and a man who knows the tortures of the German gas. He spoke at both of the theatres in each being introduced by Major S. T. Ladd and he was given a fine reception. Sergt. Howat put it right up to the people that they did not know that there was a war going on, 6,000 miles of water between this country and the actual battle field was possible the reason, but they have got to awake to the fact that we are at war.

He said that no man could get an impression of what it means, this great war in Europe until he had been actually engaged in a battle or at least to the front. He pictured some of the privations that the American soldiers are sharing with the allies out of the wonderful spirit in which they are taking it. He said you don't need to worry about them, they are perfectly able to take care of themselves your job is to do the right thing at home to give them the necessary support.

He said that the one big thing that the soldier knows will be done is his share if wounded for he has unlimited faith in the Red Cross and he looks for everybody at home to provide money to allow this wonderful organization to keep everything going. He spoke of his treatment at a Red Cross hospital after being gassed and said that words failed him to express the great work that it was doing over there.

He gave a very interesting account of two of the night patrol raids into No Mans Land, the first in which they got lost after accomplishing their work and had to remain outside of their own wire entanglements for some hours in shell holes full of water until daylight and they could be recognized by their own men, and on another occasion when they located machine gun emplacements and put them out of commission, capturing several prisoners and losing one of the patrol killed and several wounded.

He left no doubt in the minds of the audience of the proper classification of the Germans, and said that nobody has any conception of what a German is until he has been in the war zone and seen and heard of their inhuman acts. They were over there fighting to keep them there and not allow this country to feel the cruel tortures of the war and the least the people at home could do was to give every measure and especially the Red Cross the proper support.

Following the meetings at the theatres Sergt. Howat with Chairman E. C. Matthews of the Speakers committee visited the Portsmouth Athletic Club where he again gave a very interesting and informal talk and answered many questions. Later he was entertained at the Warwick Club. He will leave this morning for Manchester where he speaks today.

ENTERTAINED MARINES WITH SOCIAL

The young ladies of the Methodist church entertained about seventy-five of the marines stationed at the navy yard on Tuesday evening, with a social and an entertainment.

Rev. R. S. Tuttle the pastor made the arrangements and just to get an idea of where the men were from he took a state census and found that every one of the marines were from states west of the Mississippi river, many of them being from the west coast.

During the evening the Bachelors Revery was given with Rev. Mr. Tuttle as the bachelor and the following young ladies assigned in the play: Betty, School girl; Beatrice Oulton Kate, high school girl; Mildred Adams Blanche, Actress; Ella Goodwin Elizabeth, college girl.

Mildred, winter girl; Gertrude Gillette.

Clara, summer girl; Margaret Deaton Jeanette, riding girl; Dorothy Dutton Helen, society girl; Mae Leslie Warren Dorothy, widow; Gladys Robinson Rosamond, French nurse.

Bessie Cameron.

Mary, old sweetheart; Gertrude Gillette.

Following the play Private W. T. O'Brien, at the request of his comrades gave them the following in rhyme entitled "My Girl's Letter." I'm afraid my little Glor has turned out as a vamp.

'Cause I haven't had a letter since I landed in the camp.

She promised she would write me at least once every day.

But days have passed and weeks have gone since I went away.

She may be trying to help me; sort of holding up her light.

Just to keep me going steady when I'm heading for a fight.

But I don't like it just the same, and if she's kidding me.

You bet I'll make her worry when I'm off on Liberty.

I'll hunt me up some pretty Jane with hair just like my girl's.

That's soft and brown and silky-like with a tendency to curls.

She'll have to have her pretty teeth; the same dear Irish eyes.

The same clear cheeks and tender lips just made to tantalize.

I want to find one—just her size—I like 'em sort of cute—

And then to take my Glor's place and altogether suit.

She'll have to have Her winning ways: Celebrated Minnet, a Padarewski.

the same-kind of a snicker. She'll have the heart of love that makes my Glor worth while. But shucks! I'm only raving! I don't mean what I say! It's just the fact I'm feeling blue that makes me talk this way. Of all the Sweethearts in the world, my own's the very best. My heart's so full of love for her there's no room for the rest. So I'll just keep on thinking of the Girl I can't forget. And keep right on a-hoping that I'll get her letter yet.

Refreshments of ice and cake were served and the men left thoroughly pleased with the good time they had enjoyed.

LOCAL ITALIANS TO CELEBRATE

Will Observe Anniversary of Italy's Entrance Into War.

The Italians of this city are to celebrate on Friday evening the anniversary of the entrance of Italy into the world war, as an ally of the entente nations. Ladd, unfurling of the Italian flag accompanied by the playing of the Italian National air, an address by a speaker to be announced later, followed by a band concert.

It is planned to have all of the Italian societies take part and at the same time it will act as a booster for the Red Cross drive, now being made in this city.

CAMP DEVENS DIVISION SOON TO GO OVER

Camp Devens, Mass., May 21.—The long anticipated order, definitely providing for the recruiting and training of the Seventy-sixth Division, as a coordinate fighting organization has arrived and the recruitment is on the out-vote awaiting developments.

Instructions from the War Department as received this morning, are to the effect that all units shall be made up to maximum war strength "at once" and prepare for active war service in the shortest possible time. Approximately 13,000 men are made available for the purpose by orders for an immediate transfer of more than 8,000 recently arrived selectees at first enrolled in the Depot Brigade, and a number in excess of 4,000 transferred to this camp from Yap Hanh cantonment.

As an earnest that the War Department intends to move quickly 2200 of the New York contingent arrived in camp last night well in advance of the information that they were coming. The other 2000 or more will be here before the heels of the first quota. All came with the advantage of nearly a month of training.

The wisdom of attaching troops brought here in the last draft to divisional units for purposes of preliminary training is now more than ever apparent, as many of them are already on a par with the Yap Hanh men, and the whole scheme of training on a much better basis, so far as uniformity and advancement are concerned, than it would otherwise have been. Headquarters officials here have lost no time in responding to the department's desires.

New England Fuel Administrator URGES COAL FIRE BE ABANDONED

He says that a ton of coal turned into gas by the gas company has greater fuel value than a ton and a half burned in the kitchen range. We have always told you this. Now why do you keep on using coal when it is so scarce and you can get a better fuel by using gas?

ity and advancement are concerned, is like a mother. The British Seamen's Union knows all about the foul murders which have been committed by German seamen, and its members will see that the full price is paid for these awful crimes against humanity.

Divisional Schools Suspended

One of the first orders put into effect, following the Washington announcement, was the suspension of divisional schools in order that all the time and energy may be devoted to the more essential work of reorganizing the division. This does not include a suspension of the officer's school or that for field and staff officers. On the contrary these courses will be pushed with redoubled energy that the places vacated by the men who have been attached to the various commands and are now transferred to the Depot Brigade and to other cantonments, may be filled from the personnel of the several classes. Intensive instruction will be the watchword from this time until the division is embarked and on its way over seas.

No official information as to the approximate time of this departure accompanies the Washington order, nor is it available here, but judging from the training progress that has heretofore been made in this camp, it is pointed out that it will not be delayed many weeks because of any untidiness of the division. A period of ten weeks is cited by some camp officials as ample for the work in hand, while others allowing a week or more of time for the reorganization and getting into systematic shape of the recruited regimental units, say that two months from June 1 will see the Seventy-sixth on the other side qualified to do its share in the fighting line.

THE CURSE OF GAIN UPON GERMAN SEAMEN.

(New York Herald)

The following article appeared in the Liverpool Journal of Commerce over the signature "Nauticus." That reflects the unanimous sentiment of British seamen there can be no doubt. In reproducing it the Manufacturers' Record says: "What 'Nauticus' says will be the treatment of German sailors should be the treatment of all Germans everywhere on earth until, in sackcloth and ashes, they repent and dedicate their lives to atonement for their nation's awful crime." Both "Nauticus" and the Manufacturers' Record are right. Dirty, foul, horrible and abominable as the deeds of the land are the deeds of the sea.

"Let there be no mistake about the depth of the feeling against Germany which all decent seamen entertain at this moment. It is fiercer than the worst storm that ever blew and as strong as the trade wind which comes from the southeast.

"There will be strange ships on the waves—vessels flying a flag which has been hidden in canals and backwaters, where disinclined deers are plotted for close on four full years. They will outwardly look like other ships. To all appearances they will be honest ships, but to every seaman that was not suckled by a German mother or nursed by one of the ravishers of brave Belgium they will be known as Scheussliche Schiffe, or horrible, abominable ships! They may fly the German flag in all its flaunting finery, but it will always be foul and bloody even in the pure sunlight of the tropics.

"Against the deep blue sky of summer this flag will look like an old beast on a sacred altar; the very vultures of heaven will be stabbed with shame when it swims into the light of day. No one will salute it; no fiery message from cheery heart will greet it as it passes; no eye will be turned upon it from the crowd's nest without a curse; it will pass along the silent highways of the world like the murderer of a little child seeking to hide from justice. Dirty, foul, horrible and abominable, red with the blood of innocent women and children and brave men, even the cleansing azure of God's great sea will not wash it clean in twelve ten thousand years. It will sink in the nostrils of all mankind for ever and ever!

"Seven times competing in oratorical contests and seven times winner is the record of William Doll of Milwaukee, Mr. Doll, who is a graduate of Washington high school, won four contests there and is at present a sophomore in Lawrence College.

MILITARY DRILL AT THE ARMORY

All Young Men of This City Urged to Join Class Starting Friday Evening.

When a young man who has been drafted into the service reaches a mobilization camp how much easier he will "break in" if he has already been drilled.

By having a line on what he has to go through he will feel more at home, for it is often the unaccustomed duties rather than the surroundings that induce homesickness.

And he can more easily qualify for a noncommissioned officer's position.

It is, in all probability, a mistake for a recruit to suppose that because he may not happen to be in class one that he will not be called. It has been estimated, and it seems plausible that some of the other classes will be exhausted more rapidly than class one.

All young men between the ages of eighteen and thirty inclusive are cardinally invited to come to the armory on Friday evening, May 24th, and join the class for military drill. Come on that date as it will be too late afterward. There is no expense attached.

MORNING WEDDING

Heissel-Connors Nuptials
Take Place at the Catholic Church.

The marriage of Miss Helen Joseph-the Connors, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Michael Connors of this city, and Pay Clerk George H. Heissel, U. S. N., attached to the U. S. S. Seattle, son of Mrs. Adelaide Heissel of Southington, Conn., occurred at the Church of the Immaculate Conception this morning at 7.30 o'clock, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends of the contracting parties. The marriage service was performed by Rev.
D. Alex Sullivan, P. R.

The attractive bride wore a gown of taupé georgette crepe combined with pink satin, with garters of silver lace and beads, white tulle hat with pink crepe and flowers. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses.

Miss Catherine A. Connor, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and was attired in a gown of French blue georgette crepe over satin of like shade, and picture hat to match. Her bouquet was of red roses.

The best man was John P. Connor, a brother of the bride.

Following the nuptials the wedding party took carriages for the home of the bride's parents, 4 Woodbury avenue, where an informal reception was held, the guests numbering the relatives of the couple. A wedding repast of salads, assorted cake, fancy waters, ice cream and coffee was served.

The couple left later for a wedding trip to New York and Washington, D.
C., and at its conclusion will make their home with the bride's parents.

The going away gown of the bride was of green silver tone, worn with hat to match and blouse of white georgette crepe.

The bride's gift to the maid of honor was a wrist watch and to the groom an Elk's watch chain. The groom's gift to the bride was a diamond pen-dant; to the best man was a pair of cuff links.

The couple received many handsome and choice wedding gifts and they have the best wishes of hosts of friends for their future happiness.

and the couple were unattended. The bride was dressed in a traveling gown of blue silk with hat to match.

Following the ceremony the couple left on a wedding trip to the mountains. Upon their return they will reside in this city where the groom is employed as a motorman on the been in the employ of the road for

FAREWELL PARTY AND PRESENTATION

Attorney Sullivan One of the War Draftees Remembered
by His Friends.

Attorney Joseph D. Sullivan, one of the war draftees from Stafford county, who leaves for Camp Devens on Friday, was tendered a farewell reception by a party of young friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kline, 21 Cass street, on Tuesday evening. About 25 were present. Mr. Sullivan was the recipient of several gifts from the members of the party which included a complete and costly service kit presented by Dr. Harry J. Cronin. A tempting repast was served and several members of the party favored with vocal selections during the evening.

Mr. Sullivan, who is a native of Somersworth, established a law office in this city shortly after being admitted to the bar, and his practice has steadily increased. During the short period in which he has made Portsmouth his home he has won much esteem among the legal fraternity as well as a score of acquaintances

FRANK W. KNIGHT SHOE TALKS

Smart and Comfortable Oxfords.

You have noticed how stunning a patent leather oxford can be with many a costume. This one is a new design with most wanted features. The difficulty has been to find oxfords that close about the ankle. You may trust to the skill of designing and to Knight's service in fitting. This oxford will be comfortable.

A Pump for Street-Wear.

The faintest of patent leather pumps in appearance, but suitable for street wear. This has the new toe. And note the new Louis heel, tall, slender, graceful. Spats in the new grays and fawns make an effective outfit.
